

Keeping of Pigs

Under the local law, Livingstone Shire Council prohibits the keeping of certain animals dependent on the overall size of your property, and requires an approval called a Specified Animal Permit for keeping certain animals in prescribed circumstances.

If you are in a residential area, you are encouraged to apply for a Specified Animal Permit before you purchase or otherwise acquire any livestock for your property.

Biosecurity for backyard pigs

Keeping pigs as pets can be a great experience but it's important to ensure you practise good biosecurity to protect the health of your animals as well as you and your family.

No matter where you live, you also need to make sure you have registered with the Queensland Government as a biosecurity entity. Registration helps Biosecurity Queensland to keep you informed in a pest or disease emergency.

Before you get a pig

- Register as a biosecurity entity. Registration is free for non-commercial producers and is a requirement if you own or keep one or more pigs.
- Once registered, you will be issued with a unique property identification code (PIC) associated with the land where you keep your pig/s.

Buying a pig

- Only purchase pigs from a reputable seller. The vendor must provide a movement documentation e.g., PigPass National Vendor Declaration or completed movement record.
- Obtain details of the pig's health status: vaccinations, worm and external parasite treatments and full medication history.
- Your pig should come with a National Livestock Identification System (NLIS) pig ear tag (any size pig) as well as the PIC of the seller or a tattoo.
- Record the movement of the pig onto your property on the PigPass database.

Minimum Standards for Keeping Animals Generally

A person who keeps an animal on premises must:

- ensure that the animal is adequately identified so that the owner's name, address and telephone number are readily ascertainable; and
- ensure that waste waters from enclosures are drained in a nuisance free manner and that run-off is kept off adjoining premises or as otherwise directed by an authorised person; and
- ensure that excreta, food scraps and other material that is, or is likely to become, offensive is collected at least daily and, if not immediately removed from the premises, is kept in a waste container of a kind approved by an authorised person; and
- ensure that any enclosure in which the animal is kept is properly maintained in
  - a clean and sanitary condition; and
  - an aesthetically acceptable condition; and
- take all reasonable steps to prevent the animal from making a noise or disturbance that causes a nuisance or disturbance to the occupiers of
  - adjoining premises; or
  - premises in the vicinity of the land on which the animal is ordinarily kept; and
- ensure that the area available to the animal kept on the premises is appropriately sized so that the animal can be effectively and comfortably kept.

Requirements for Proper Enclosures for Animals

- A proper enclosure is an area of the land on which the animal is kept, appropriately sized to be capable of effectively and comfortably housing the animal.
- The area must be suitably fenced -
  - appropriate to the species and breed of the animal to be enclosed; and
  - to effectively enclose the animal, on the land on which it is kept, at all times.
- Suitably fenced means enclosed by a fence -
  - constructed of materials which are of sufficient strength to prevent the animal from escaping over, under or through the fence; and
  - of a height which is sufficient to prevent the animal jumping or climbing over the fence; and
  - where the animal can dig, includes a barrier installed directly below the fence to prevent the animal digging its way out; and
  - where the animal can climb, be designed and constructed in such a way as to prevent the animal from climbing over the fence; and
  - of which all gates are kept closed and latched except when in immediate use by a person entering or leaving the land on which the animal is kept.

Land Size Comparisons

4,000 m <sup>2</sup>	=	1 acre
10,000 m <sup>2</sup>	=	1 hectare
1 hectare	=	2.5 acres

A permit is not required if the keeping of the animal is authorised under a development approval issued by Council.
